So that perception of human movement is necessary in order to identify the meaning of the experience. But without the experience there would be no human movement to perceive.

Bibliography

Abbs, Peter

Argyle, Michael

Arnold, P.J.

Best, David

Collingwood, R.

Diffey, T. J.

Kant, Immanuel

Metheny, Eleanor.
Phenix, P.

Phillips, D. Z.

Wilde, Oscar

Winch, Peter

Whitehead, M.

Wittgenstein, Ludwig

Suggested Further Reading

Books

Monographs - (a selection)

Contributions to Books -- (a selection)

Articles/Essays -- (a selection)

1983. Logic and Particularity. BJA, Autumn.
1986. Philosophy and the Nitty Gritty. JAE [Special Invitational Issue marking the 20th year of publication], 20(4), Winter.